The textbook covers the theory and basics of the course, with additional focus on this text and . This textbook is *not* part of the four-volume *College Physics* series [Strogatz]. [3]: [4]: [5]: [6]: [7]: Transport of cystine into mitochondria. Since the discovery that cystine is concentrated in the rat liver mitochondria, a number of studies have been made to elucidate its transport mechanism. These studies have revealed that there are two routes for cystine entry into mitochondria. One route is the shuttling of cystine into mitochondria from the cytosol through the bulk flow of cystine across the mitochondrial membrane. The other route is the pumping of cystine into mitochondria through a specific pathway via the electron transport system of the mitochondrial inner membrane, so that, in the vicinity of the inner membrane, the cytosolic concentration of cystine increases. Studies using isotope tracers of the bivalent anion (cytosolic) cystine have shown that rat liver mitochondria are able to pump cystine into the mitochondrial matrix by the respiratory chain. It is suggested that this carrier plays a significant role in the regulation of cystine metabolism.

1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates generally to the field of corn breeding. In particular, the invention relates to corn seed and plants of the hybrid variety designated CH207722, and derivatives and tissue cultures thereof.

2. Description of Related Art The goal of field crop breeding is to combine various desirable traits in a single variety/hybrid. Such desirable traits include greater yield, better stalks, better roots, resistance to insecticides, herbicides, pests, and disease, tolerance to heat and drought, reduced time to crop maturity, better agronomic quality, higher nutritional value, and uniformity in germination times, stand establishment, growth rate, maturity, and 82157476af
